

A somewhat strange story relative to the finding of a diamond in its crude state in Wisconsin, is told by the Madison Democrat. According to the Madison Democrat authority, "a few weeks ago a lady bought a peculiarly looking stone of great brilliancy to Colonel Sen. B. Boynton, a jeweler of Milwaukee, and offered it to him, telling him it had been discovered out of the ground in digging a well in a small town in Wisconsin about 100 miles from Milwaukee. The jeweler thought it a peculiar specimen, but not knowing its character, advised her to have it cut and filled into a pin or ring, making its beauty would warrant the expense. She declined his proposition, however, and desired him to buy it. He made her an offer of a small sum for it, deeming it worth something as a specimen. She took the stone away and after several days returned saying she had concluded to accept his offer. He bought the specimen, little knowing its real character. A few days afterwards, being in Chicago, he related it to several leading jewelers and they all pronounced it an African diamond. One leading firm, who had a diamond cutter in their employ, offered him several hundred dollars for it and having tested it in various ways pronounced it a genuine diamond, which in properly cut would be worth from $10,000 to $15,000." As there is a sort of a political news this item does good

The Telegraph Inquiry.

WASHINGTON CITY, Feb. 27.—Dr. Green has declined to accept the senate committee's offer to purchase the telegraph company's stockpiles and personal effects. Chairman McMillan said that the committee will still prepare for the purchase of the telegraph company's contracts with press associations. He demanded was again refused. President Wilson based his declaration to furnish the telegraph company with the stock of Hildesheim, Va. ex-Sergeant-at-Arms, Telegraph company. The statement read by counsel on the subject recited that neither the subcommittee, nor the full committee nor the senate had the rightful power to require witnesses to produce the contracts. The statement also said that the committee had no authority in the course of further examination. Dr. Green testified that, so far as he knew, there had been no recent negotiations between the Baltimore and Ohio Telegraph company and the telegraph company. The telegraph company looked for a consolidation. Chairman Hill said: "To have been informed, and I think we will know, that there have been such negotiations and that the papers have been drawn."

"I think, Mr. Chairman," replied Dr. Green, "that this impression has arisen from the fact that the papers that were drawn two years ago, but the return of the telegraph company, Mr. Garrett from Europe knocked the proposed consolidation into a 'cocked hat.'"

Previous to leaving the room Dr. Green informed the committee that the event of a determination on the part of the senate to purchase the Western Union property, they would guarantee that the members of the tribunal, or board of arbitration, under the terms of the contract, would be given every facility to examine the telegraph company's business with the entire business of the company. Chairman Hill could not see how the terms could make this offer, and at the same time draw the line against a resolution of the senate to purchase the telegraph company's contracts for such a purpose. Dr. Green contended that at the cases were not parties.

Access was then taken, after which Mr. Dr. Chapman, formerly superintendent of construction for the Mutual Union Telegraph company, testified that the cost of the telegraph company's contracts was not borne by the Mutual Union company, but was borne by the telegraph company. He said that in Michigan and in other states the telegraph company was embarrassed in securing right of way from farmers who had been entrapped into making exclusive contracts with the Western Union company. He said that the telegraph company had a large amount of poles on their property, and that they had been unable to do by any means agents of the latter company when they learned the route which the telegraph company proposed taking.

The committee has decided to subpoena Dr. J. B. Eckert, of the Western Union company.

Quick Relief!

When a man has suffered from Rheumatism only a little while, and is relieved from his pain, he is happy and content. But suppose he has suffered for more than a third of a century.

Alvin Clark, of Yale, Iowa, writes:

"I have been suffering from Rheumatism for more than a third of a century. I have tried every remedy known to man, but have not been able to get any relief. I have been in bed for many months, and have been unable to do any work."

BRIEFES.

—Mr. John Raxford went to Chicago to-day.

—Badger Council, Royal Arcanum assemble this evening.

—Wisconsin Lodge No. 14, I. O. O. F., occupy Old Fellows hall this evening.

—No more weddings on the books, but one will occur now and then, just the same.

—Forty-seven days in Lent, beginning to-day and ending with Easter Sunday, April 13th.

—Hon. R. J. Greenman, of Milton, chairman of the county board of supervisors, was in the city to-day.

—Mr. Charles Bowerman, of the third ward, has gone to Coldwater, Michigan, to visit his mother and other relatives.

—The people of Rockford have raised and forwarded to the flood sufferers of the Ohio river, the handsome sum of one thousand dollars.

—Social entertainments will not be so plenty for the next six weeks in this city, many of the society people strictly observing Lent.

—Mr. A. C. Kent is shipping carloads of his popular corn planters this season. The demand for these planters is steadily increasing from year to year.

—Prof. Severance will be at Apollo hall this evening. His accomplished daughter, Miss Eliot Severance, will be present at the dancing school social.

—Henry Blunk has a fine illustration of one of ready-made clothing salesmen, smiling on Lake Koshkonong, showing how he brought down the mallards, and saved his ammunition.

—Mr. S. Myers, of Wausau, Indiana, who has been in the city for some days attending to business here, has gone home, leaving his business in the hands of Messrs. Coling & Wray.

—One of the circular ornaments in the court house tower, originally built for a clock dial, or to place a clock dial, has been blown in by the wind, and makes the tower look as though it had been through a war siege.

—A jury was impaneled this afternoon in the municipal court in the case of the state against Justin W. Stroud, of Edgerton, charged with selling intoxicating liquors without license. The district attorney represents the state and Wm. Smith appears for the defendant.

—Remember the benefit dance in Apollo hall to-morrow evening, given to aid Miss Oberst of the second ward. The Arion band will furnish the music, and there are plenty of tickets at fifty cents each. Don't fail to procure one, and aid a worthy cause.

—City Treasurer Blount will sell a few parcels of land to-morrow for the unpaid city taxes for the year 1883. The sale only includes a very few pieces, in fact the smallest number ever offered since the city was incorporated. The sale takes place at the treasurer's office.

—McSorley's Inflation will be produced at the opera house to-morrow evening. This is one of the comedies that produces all the fun that the public are entitled to at popular prices. There is a good deal of amusement in the play, and the entertainment will be richly enjoyed.

—Mr. J. Snyder, the popular proprietor of the Pembor house, has gone to Las Vegas, New Mexico, on a pleasure and prospecting tour combined, and expects to be absent six weeks or two months. During his absence, his chief clerk, Mr. L. O. Robinson, will engineer the Pembor.

—Rockford Gazette.—Leo Lung, the sinful celestial, was given a hearing before Justice Frost, Saturday morning, being charged with obtaining money under false pretenses. He pleaded guilty to the charge, and was held to bonds in the sum of $100. Being unable to furnish the bonds, he was placed in jail to await trial.

—The store of McKay & Bros., on the corner of Center and Western avenues, Monterey, was burglarized last night and about ten dollars in money taken from the money drawer. The burglar entered the store through a basement window. Nothing but the above amount of money is missed, and the burglar effected their escape, leaving no clue for their detection.

—The Sunday Telegraph contains this pleasant item: General George C. Girty was captured by O. H. Fethers, at Janesville. He confesses it in this paragraph from his paper, the Chippewa Herald: That speech made at the G. A. R. assembly in Janesville, last week, by Mr. O. H. Fethers, was the finest, most eloquent and best delivered, ever made in Wisconsin. There wasn't a heart in that vast audience that did not appreciate it.

—A letter received last evening from D. C. Gurnsey and wife, who have been on a trip to Dakota since January 24th, reports "back again to Winona after ten days of snow blockade in Minnesota." Anxious to find themselves again at home in Washington territory, where three or four inches of the beautiful and that for no more than a few days at a time, is rare, and where the thermometer for the past winter has ranged from 5 to 25 degrees above zero.

—A man who represents a good accident insurance company ought to be willing to make a spectacle of himself at full length on the sidewalk every day. It would be a good advertising dodge. The above matter of fact consolation was offered to a party lying flat on his back in the snow in front of an attorney's residence in the first ward this morning. As he slowly resumed a standing posture and we helped to brush him off, he seemed to appreciate the fact that the advertising scheme might be turned to good account, and started on with a joyous spirit and perceptible limp, just as the attorney rushed out with a broom and said, "gentleman, halt! I prefer to clean off my own sidewalk." A little argument convinced him that the party of the first part should not attempt to stay the proceedings, and a mutual understanding saved the ward a first class law suit.

—Nelson Bros., corner of Overt and Park streets, at the east end of the lower bridge, keep a first class livery stable. Any one in want of a good rig would do well to call on them. They also furnish horse and carriages for funerals at a reasonable rate.

—Peck's Bad Boy" will be produced at the opera house on Friday evening of this week. There will be a good deal of interest among our people regarding the dramatization of these popular sketches, and of course the house will be crowded. The Boston Herald, of January 8th, says: "Peck's Bad Boy" made a decided hit. The house was crowded, and late comers found "standing room only" and precious little of that. Of course no one claims for the piece any glowing encomiums from a literary standpoint; its merits lie in the ample opportunity offered the Bad Boy to perpetrate his mischief, and in the mirth-provoking situations and variety sketches introduced. Mr. Dan Mason, as the "Groceryman," scored a decided success, while Mr. Tony Williams, as the "Trash Policeman," and Mr. George Hill, as the "Minister," presented some very clever character sketches. Mr. Charles Willard, as the "Bad Boy's Pa," at times brought down the house.

—The Masquerade. The private masquerade of the Janesville Concordia society, held at their hall in the Mitchell block, last evening, was attended by about 40 couples under mask, while a large number of spectators were in attendance. The Concordia society held this masquerade for their own amusement, and not to make money, and therefore the members went to work to outdo each other in selecting and dressing characters, which resulted in making it the best masquerade representing characters, that has been given in this city for a long time. There was also much amusement prevailing throughout the evening, as a character would be "given away" by some outsider. This was the case with Mr. Gus. Bauman, who represented a priest, which he did with the grace and dignity of the order. He was walking around the hall, in company with a couple of nuns, when Charley Howe, with devilry in his eye, thought he knew the priest, and hurriedly rushed up to him and whispered quickly in his ear: "Fire, Gus, quick!" Gus, forgetting his character, and was quick to transform into an engineer of a fire steamer. Gus yelled right out loud, and "gave himself" dead away. Nevertheless, his character was well taken.

—There were many other good characters represented, the most notable of which were a group of German harvesters, with their rakes, sheaves, flails, etc., going into the harvest field, bearing a banner "Gradsie in Deutschland." A German emigrant and his family, just landed in Castle Garden; several dominos, and clowns, Little Johnny Horn and Willie Bauman represented torch boys of our fire department, and filled the bill well. The society offered a prize of three dollars for the best lady character, which was awarded to Mrs. M. Boul, one of the harvesters; the second prize, two dollars, was awarded to Mrs. Hannah Funk, representing a nun, dressed in a paper dress under of Daily Gazette's heading forming prominent parts of the outfit. The first prize for gentlemen, three dollars, was awarded to Mr. Ed. Kienow, the German emigrant, and the second to Gus. Bauman, the priest. Messrs. T. T. Croft, W. T. Vankirk, A. Bintliff, John Dewey and Martin Beck, of Broadhead, were the judges. There was considerable amusement at twelve o'clock when the masks were removed, and all the characters were revealed. The Arion band furnished the music, and all enjoyed a happy evening.

—For Charity—Genie's Charity's Make. While winter cold rules everything, it is almost like a ray of summer sunshine of the innumerable heap of good (never to be known by mortal ken on this earth) that is done daily and hourly in the city of New Orleans, La., by the far-famed Charity Hospital, maintained by the French, the French, the American, the Confederate States, and now more active in its mission of good than ever, sustained by the royal bonus of $1,000,000 paid for its franchises by the Louisiana State Lottery the next (the 1884) Monthly Drawing of which will occur on March 11, 1884, and of which M. A. Dauphin, at New Orleans, La., will give all information.

—Thirty-Six Years of Successful Business. "We understand that Mr. J. S. Sutherland intends to go into the book business extensively in this village, and that he has already bought out the stock of M. B. Edson, and will make large additions to this stock as soon as navigation opens. We are right glad to hear this. A full and extensive stock of books is much needed here, and we have no doubt they would sell well. Mr. Sutherland is a gentleman every way worthy of the confidence and patronage of the reading public, and moreover by his connection with book establishments in the east will have facilities for offering books on the most reasonable terms, and of the most choice and varied selection."

—The above complimentary notice is found in the files of the Gazette under date of March 30, 1848. In the same paper is noticed Mr. Sutherland's announcement, which says that "he has permanently located himself in the book business in the flourishing village of Janesville."

—After the lapse of thirty-six years, we are pleased to announce that Mr. Sutherland remains a live specimen of permanency in many ways. Time has wrought many changes in the "fourishing" village referred to, and the old landmarks of 1848, one by one, have disappeared. Gradually the village developed and assumed the dignity and title of a city. The "old settler" with commendable pride, relates the experiences incident to the founding of the town, noted to-day for its enterprise and beauty. Through all the changes and changes that have taken place in the business affairs of the city during these thirty-six years, Mr. Sutherland has been among the foremost in success, a statement fully substantiated by the elegant bookstore now owned by him and his sons. Mr. Sutherland is one of those thrifty and enterprising business men who have practiced judiciously advertising during all the years of his business career in Janesville, and his neighbors can see that he has been largely profited thereby. The Gazette congratulates the firm of James Sutherland & Sons on its achievements, and trusts that its prosperity will increase with the incoming of the years.
